Over the past months, about 500 representatives from more than 40 countries have been working in the Civil7 (C7) network across five working groups. The C7 Summit on 4–5 May 2022 will be the highlight of this year’s process, coordinated by VENRO, the Association of German Development and Humanitarian Aid NGOs, and the German NGO Forum on Environment and Development. We would like to invite you to the C7 Summit, which is planned as a hybrid event: The first day will take place digitally and the second day as a face-to-face event in Berlin with livestream.

Challenges such as the pandemic, climate change, conflicts and global injustice can only be met internationally, and voices of civil society must be heard and included in political decision-making. Processes in international forums and the dialogue between political decision makers and civil society have taken on a new urgency in recent weeks and months. The war in Ukraine and the suppression of demonstrations in Russia and in many other countries worldwide remind us once again of the value of democracy and a strong civil society. C7 is part of this lived democracy as one of the official Engagement Groups of the G7. In this year’s process, it was particularly important to us not to limit participation to non-governmental organisations from G7 countries, but rather represent voices from international civil society.

On the first day of the Summit, C7 working group coordinators and representatives of the G7 are invited to reflect on the global responsibility of the G7. Subsequently, representatives of civil society will discuss key challenges with high-level representatives of the German government.

On 5 May, the C7 Communiqué will be officially handed over to the G7 President and German Chancellor Olaf Scholz, and the formulated political recommendations will be presented and discussed in a panel with German Sherpa Dr Jörg Kukies.

We are looking forward to welcoming you.

For any questions please do not hesitate to contact the C7 Secretariat: contact@civil7.org

Kind regards
